Educating for Eternity

Volume 6, Issue 27

March 10, 2022

It may not feel like it and certainly doesn't look like it, but spring will have officially arrived by the time we return to school on March 21. It is also the end of the quarter, so next week is a good opportunity to finish any incomplete work from the quarter.

National Read Across America Day

We missed it (it was March 2), but that doesn't mean we can't and shouldn't read anyway! Here are some ideas to inspire reading in your children:

- Keep books everywhere you spend time — the car, every room in the house, backpacks, purses.
- Visit the school library or the city library — all kinds of books are available there, free of charge!

Point to Ponder

"The only way to learn strong faith is to endure great trials."

— George Müller

Chuckle Bit

Q: Why did the baker become a thief?
A: He kneaded the dough.

- Get caught reading — children imitate what they see the adults around them doing (sobering thought!); let them know that reading great materials is a wonderful and worthwhile way to spend ones time.
- Read to your children — no matter their age, reading aloud strengthens their vocabulary and language skills. It also opens up opportunity for discussion. And who doesn't like to listen to a story!?

Adventures in Botany

Grades 3-8 have been studying botany in science class. We constructed our own light box several weeks ago and have been enjoying watching our seeds turn into plants. This week, our cilantro and basil were ready to take home and add flavor to some cooking! For another activity we put seeds in three different

What's Cookin'?

Breakfast

Tuesday, March 22

Sarah F: 1 can fruit-sweetened pears
Mo/Kaj: 2 cans fruit sweetened peaches
Faith: 6 bananas
Ratliff: 16-oz. bag frozen strawberries
Mtonga: 16-oz. bag frozen blueberries
Hale: 1 jar natural peanut butter
Carter: 3 navel oranges
Karges: 1 bag frozen blueberries
Ms. Hay: waffles
Mrs. Wright: tofu

Pasta Bake

Tuesday, March 29

Sarah F: 1 jar marinara sauce
Mo/Kaj: 2 jars marinara sauce
Faith: 1 jar marinara sauce
Ratliff: 2 jars marinara sauce
Mtonga: 1 bag grated veggie cheese, 1 head broccoli
Hale: 2 boxes whole grain lasagna noodles
Carter: 6 fresh carrots
Karges: 1 head cauliflower, 1 head broccoli
Ms. Hay: 2 tubs firm tofu
Mrs. Wright: frozen spinach, grated veggie cheese environments: refrigerator, closet, and on a window. Can you guess which one sprouted and grew the best? Give your best guess to one of the students or Mrs. Wright. Another activity we did was dissecting a mature flower. Gaffaney's, a floral shop in town, donated several slightly over-the-hill flowers for the cause of science and we got to tear them apart piece by piece to identify each part. We learned some very interesting things!

Creation and Redemption

Created so perfect
And God-like were we,
From dust He made mankind
Fair fellows to be.

Then something happened.
Experience have all,
We heeded the serpent,
Now lost are we all.

Then, when the Lord came
His voice to resound,
We, in our fig leaves,
Still hiding He found.

A Lamb's now been slain,
Fig leaves to replace.
I see Him hang, dying
Cruel thorns on His face.

Freed of our fig leaves,
God's righteousness donned,
Sanctification, to keep
This robe fond.

Buy back, repurchase,
To strive for and win,
Man from destruction,
From sin to save him.

Our hero is Jesus,
And worthy of praise.
Glory and honor and
Worship we raise.
